RED CROSS CONCERT

FIRST OF SERIES OF SIX ENTERTAINMENTS LAST NIGHT WAS SUCCESS

The first of the series of the six entertainments which have been arranged by Dr. Henry Harrower, chairman of the Red Cross entertainment committee of the Glendale chapter of the American Red Cross, was held Monday evening, October 29, in the auditorium of the high school.

Previous to the opening of the meeting proper, J. H. Braly, chairman of the chapter, called the members to order and stated that the annual election of officers for the local chapter would be held at that time. He instructed those present that only members would be allowed to vote. Mr. Braly called A. T. Cowan to the chair, whereupon Ed M. Lee made a motion that the present officers, being J. H. Braly, chairman; T. F. McCrea, vice chairman; Mrs. Mabel Franklin Ocker, secretary, and F. H. Vesper, treasurer, be re-elected. The motion carried. Mr. Braly then made a motion that the present heads of departments be re-elected. This motion also prevailed.

The business part of the meeting being over, Dr. Harrower appeared on the platform, and after making several announcements, introduced Prof. A. S. Hobbie, who, assisted by Alma Kifer and Elsie Sailor, with violins, and Mrs. Terstoppen, Miss Wexler, Master Walter Seck with zithers, gave several very pleasing musical numbers.

A vocal solo by Mrs. Robert Yost was well received. She was accompanied by Mrs. L. W. Boserman. A piano solo by Miss Helen K. Walker was well received, as was also two patriotic readings by Mrs. Allison Gaw. Mrs. Gaw was the author of the words and had received a prize of $500 on one of them.

Cecil Crandall always pleases a Glendale audience with his violin solos, and this time was no exception. He was accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Eugene Murman. Vocal solos by Miss Winifred Miller were attractive parts of the program.

Rev. T. F. McCrea, who has recently been appointed to do Y. M. C. A. work at Camp Kearney, San Diego, gave a very interesting talk on what he saw at that camp this week when making a visit there. Rev. McCrea is wonderfully interested in the welfare of the young men, and he will do a grand work among the soldier boys.

Rev. McCrea also made a very clear statement as to what the Glendale chapter of the American Red Cross is doing in the way of knitting and sewing.

The evening's program closed with "The Star Spangled Banner," played by the zither sextet.

PROMINENT W. U. TELEGRAPH MAN COMING

Through the efforts of Manager Downing, of the local Western Union office, and Sam Stoddard, our progressive real estate agent, W. B. Patterson, the assistant chief operator of the Western Union in Los Angeles, is to make his home in Glendale beginning November 1. Mr. Patterson is the type of man we are glad to have with us, as he is very progressive and is considered one of the liveliest wires in the great Western Union organization. Mrs. Patterson has been quite prominent in club work in Highland Park, where she has lived for several years.

MISS BRAUN GOES EAST

Miss Gertrude Braun, of 900 South Glendale avenue, left on Friday evening for an extended trip in the East, where she will visit friends in St. Paul, Minn. She will stop while there with Mrs. Knoche and daughter, Miss Katherine, and expects to be with them through the winter and spring. Miss Braun will make the trip by way of San Francisco and other points of interest, and will stop off at Tacoma to visit some of the Glendale boys at Camp Lewis.

MORRIS JACKSON INJURED

Mrs. Elizabeth Jackson, of 1418 Milford, went to San Diego last Friday to see her brother, Morris, who was badly injured a few days before when the motorcycle he was riding was struck and demolished by a big truck. Morris was badly bruised and cut about the head and body and one leg was broken in five places. He is now in a hospital in San Diego, and the brave boy's great concern is not the pain of his wounds, but the thought that his army career is ended.

ENDEAVOR PARTY

GARNET AND FERN PETERS HOSTESSES AT MERRY HALLOWEEN FESTIVAL

A delightful Halloween party was given on Saturday evening by Mrs. J. E. Peters at her home, 1500 West Colorado, for the Intermediate Endeavorers of the Christian church, of which Misses Garnet and Fern Peters are members. About twenty young guests were present and greatly enjoyed an evening of mystery, introduced by a witch who met them at the door and led them into the dim recesses where ghosts and spooks held the corners if not the center of the floor. Black cats and witches were everywhere in evidence, illumined with the mystic light of lanterns. The usual autumn setting of cornstalks completed the scene. When the refreshments were served, the young people gained the joyful information concerning the initials of their future mates through the only reliable source known, that revealed by apple peelings at a Halloween party. Popcorn was served in pretty Halloween napkins, in which were fastened clever little Halloween hats as favors. Every one keenly enjoyed the amusements of the evening, which continued until a late hour. Parties are held for these Intermediate Endeavorers every month, and always mean a good time for the young people.

MASK DANCE

Miss Hazel Tyler gave a delightful Halloween mask dance at her home, 1463 Salem street, on Saturday evening. The guests appeared in a great variety of clever costumes, the identity of each remaining a mystery until the unmasking later in the evening. The whole house, outside and in, presented a veritable riot of fantastic Halloween figures and weird faces with the appropriate decorations. Yellow chrysanthemums were charmingly used. Crepe paper in orange and black was festooned from the corners of the rooms, and the lights were dimmed, shining through big yellow jack o' lanterns. The evening was spent in dancing, with a few games suitable to the occasion. The refreshments were in accord with the season, consisting of pumpkin pie, coffee, sandwiches and other good things. Attractive little nut baskets were given as favors. The hostess was assisted by her sister, Miss Elsie Tyler, and her aunt, Miss Edith Tyler. The guests were: The Misses Ruby Farnsworth, Lillias McGibben, Augusta Otto and Marjory Tyler, Mr. and Mrs. E. Bryant and Mr. and Mrs. George Lyons and Mrs. Clair Pierce of Pasadena, Warman Wriggley of Los Angeles, Jim Gager, Hanford Richards and Sergeant Harold McElroy of Company 21, Coast Artillery.

HALLOWEEN BARN PARTY

Miss Elizabeth Mottern, 1109 West Fifth street, was the young hostess of a Halloween "barn" party at her home on Monday evening. About sixteen guests, the girls of her Sunday school class and high school girl friends, were present, appearing in "sheet and pillow case" draperies of white. The big living rooms were realistically converted into an old-fashioned barn scene, with seats of boxes and grain sacks, and illuminated with the dim light of red lanterns. Cornstalks held an appropriate place, and black cats and bats appeared in relief before the lights. The evening began with a "ghost meeting" very mystically executed by the masked and mysterious spooks. Later the masks were removed and the erstwhile spirits materialized to have their fortunes told with all the interest of real, live girls. Mrs. N. J. Melin was the very popular witch, all in deep, dark black mystery, who found the story of the future written in the palms of the young guests. Little individual pumpkin pies, home baked and served with tiny black favors and delicious "rosettes" with cocoa. After many Halloween games were enjoyed, the happy evening was completed by the ride home with which Rev. Mottern treated the girls.

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Norton, of 373 West Third street, entertained on Sunday with a noon dinner in honor of Mrs. Norton's birthday, which falls on October 30. About 17 guests, consisting of children, grandchildren and other relatives, were present, and among them were five whose birthdays come within the month of October. A beautiful big birthday cake was baked by Mrs. Alma Hillyard of Los Angeles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norton. Mrs. Norton spent her birthday at San Pedro, where she and Mr. Norton's nieces, Miss Ida and Miss Sadie Skipton, expect to visit for the coming week.

HAIG REPORTS BIG GAIN IN FLANDERS

BRITISH FORCES REACH THE LIMITS OF PASSCHENDAELE RIDGE—NEARING HINDENBURG LINE.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, October 30.—Field Marshal Haig reports another great gain in the blow against the German line in Flanders this morning. Good progress was reported on the drive toward Roulers, the important railroad center of the Hindenburg line now only six miles from the British positions. The British forces are now on the outskirts of Passchendaele. A new drive started this morning brought them to the very limits of the ridge. The Canadians were again in the post of honor, storming positions in the village.

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

LONDON, October 30.—The invasion of Italy may change the whole war plan of the allies. All admit the seriousness of the situation and see in it the lengthening of the war by many months. Allied help must be rushed to Italy to stop the advance of the Teutons. Two Italian armies have been smashed by the on-creeping Germans.

HOOVER HOPES TO EFFECT A MATERIAL REDUCTION IN RETAIL FOOD COSTS BY JANUARY

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WASHINGTON, October 30.—The government will take the first big smash at retail food prices when it assumes control of twenty basic food products on Thursday. Control will take the form of a licensing system under the food administration. Hoover expects to effect a material reduction in retail food prices by January 1. He hopes to bring this about by eliminating waste and doing away with excess profits in manufacture, storage and distribution of the twenty products under his control.

Latest reports say crops in the southwest were heavily damaged.

SAMMIES FIGHT KNEE DEEP IN WATER

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

WITH THE AMERICAN ARMY IN FRANCE, October 30.—Under terrible weather conditions the American army is exchanging blow for blow with the Boches. Already one American lieutenant has been wounded in action in a communication trench. Where the Sammies are manning American guns there is a vast stretch of icy rivulet and mud bog. The rain and snow beat down continuously and the infantry is standing knee deep in the frozen water in the trenches. Despite these conditions the officers have difficulty in restraining the men from making attacks. They want to be up and at the enemy.

BERLIN REPORTS ADVANCE

BERLIN, October 30.—Our whole front is pressing against the upper part of Tagliamento river," declared an official statement today. "We advanced from Carnick and have reached Venitian soil."

A VOTING PROBLEM

CLEVER LADY DISCOVERS THAT ONE VOTE MAKES A DIFFERENCE OF FOUR

(By Walt Le Noir Church.)

This morning a worthy couple discussed the fire protection bond election being held today in Glendale.

He—Why should I take the trouble to go to the polls to vote, when I have so much else to do? What good will my one vote do?

She—One vote, indeed! Your vote would make a difference of four. That's a lot, and might decide a close election. Say you vote for the bonds. Then they would get the vote you cast and save the vote that would otherwise have been against them. If one plus one does not equal two then I know nothing about mathematics. On the other hand, if you vote against the bonds, then your vote equals two in that direction. Well, don't two and two make four?

He—By Jove, you know, so it does. I had no idea my one vote was so important. To the polls for me! Come on!

MUSIC SECTION OF TUESDAY AFTERNOON CLUB

The music section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club met with Mrs. Frank Arnold at her home, 309 North Maryland, on Friday afternoon. The afternoon was given up to the study of Southern California composers. Papers were read by Mrs. Bosserman on Cadmus, Mrs. Balthis on Carrie Jacobs Bond, and Mrs. Collin Cable on Gertrude Ross. Mrs. Helen Campbell read a personal letter from Ellen Beach Yaw, which was most interesting. This very pleasing program was delightfully illustrated by songs from the various composers. Mrs. J. W. Pigg, accompanied by Mrs. Boyer, sang two songs by Cadmus; Mrs. Legge, accompanied by Miss Alice Beach, gave several selections from Carrie Jacobs Bond, and Mrs. Arnold, accompanied by Mrs. Hagood, sang an original composition by Julius Krantz, and also a lullaby by Gertrude Ross. Mrs. Boyer played a medley of her own arrangement. After this very pleasantly instructive afternoon the section adjourned, to meet again on November 9 at the home of Mrs. Hagood, 1454 Salem street.

MRS. MCCREA TO SPEAK TO D. A. R.

The Gen. Richard Gridley chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, will meet at the home of the regent, Mrs. Mary H. Gridley-Braly, 205 North Brand boulevard, Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Mrs. Braly has obtained as speaker of the afternoon Mrs. T. F. McCrea, recently returned from China, who will give an address. Mrs. McCrea will bring with her many curious and interesting articles which she brought from China. She is a very charming and interesting speaker and a very instructive and entertaining afternoon is anticipated. Mrs. Braly has given the members permission to bring guests, and a social time with refreshments will be enjoyed.

TROPICO RED CROSS

The food sale held at the Grocerteria on Brand boulevard, in Tropic, last Saturday, netted the Tropic branch of the Red Cross $10.50. The demand for these sales of good, home made delicacies and delicious bread and rolls is sufficient to warrant their continuance. The next one will be held on November 17 at the store building at the corner of San Fernando road and Cypress, and will be in charge of Mrs. Bacon. All the members of the Tropic Red Cross are now busily engaged in sewing for the bazar to be given at the City Hall on December 13.

REVIVAL MEETINGS

Elder Clifford A. Cole, pastor of the Christian church, is expected home from the Kansas City convention on Saturday. On Sunday he will begin revival services, to last two or three weeks. Preliminary to this, prayer meetings are to be held Wednesday in four homes—A. B. Heacock's, 507 West Ninth; Mrs. Crawford, 151 Cedar; W. J. Stone's, 351 North Brand; and O. L. Kilborn's, 1317 Lomita. Members of the church and all others who wish to do so are urged to attend these meetings and pray for the success of the revival. The motto is, "We Will Conquer," and the Bible text to be used is from Philippians, 4:13, "I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me."

WEATHER FORECAST—Fair tonight and Wednesday. Westerly winds.

LES MEYER, THE FLYER

VISITS HOME IN GLENDALE BEFORE LEAVING FOR FLYING SCHOOL

Our popular, versatile and efficient young friend, Les Meyer, has been with us again for a few days. He enlisted in the aviation corps several months ago, and for the last two months he has been stationed at the ground school in Berkeley. He successfully graduated from there last week, and obtained a three days' leave of absence. He has to report back to Berkeley Tuesday morning, October 30, when he will receive orders to report to a certain flying school.

"Yes, I have completed the course at the ground school, and in a few days I start the actual flying, so that the interesting part is still coming to me, although the past eight weeks' training has been mighty interesting. There are three Glendale boys that are now up in Berkeley—Harry Coker, Charles Potter and Thomas Vint, the last named having only two weeks or so more to go before graduation, while Harry Coker has had one week and Charles Potter has had two weeks.

"No, sir, I am sorry that I can not tell you to what flying school I am going. To be quite candid about it, I don't know where I will be sent, but of course, even if I knew, it would be against military ethics to tell any one. One thing I can say, and that is that when Uncle Sam gets his thousands of aviators whipped into shape, and all the other branches of the service thoroughly trained, 'Good night, Kaler Bill!' The average citizen doesn't realize or doesn't know about the wonderful thoroughness that the government is employing at the present time, but it will show in results obtained, and that is what counts."

Les put his application in at Washington away back in June for a commission in the aviation corps, and started training as a cadet officer on August 27, and completed the ground school course last Saturday. When he gets to flying school we trust that he will meet with all good luck and success, and if he proves as efficient in flying as he has in selling and driving automobiles and in all his business dealings he is going to be "some aviator." So, Cadet Lester L. Meyer, good-bye, good luck and success be with you.

AT CAMP LEWIS

CAMP LEWIS, TACOMA, Wash., Oct. 30.—Three thousand men of the 42,776 sent to Camp Lewis have been rejected and returned home for physical disability after being examined here, army authorities announced today. They estimated the rejections had cost the government $1,000,000 in this district alone, and declared carelessness of local boards was the cause. Oregon had the highest percentage of rejections, with Montana second. The total number of California's rejected was 1698. Tuberculosis either of the lungs or bones has been the prevailing cause for rejection, the physicians of the army said. Defective eyesight has been another leading cause, while several sleep walkers have been sent home. Army doctors explained somnambulists were not wanted at the front, as it is impossible to tell what minute they might walk boldly into No Man's Land.

Thirty-five thousand pounds of meat and 1000 pounds of onions are among the things Sammies at Camp Lewis slip down their throats each day. They served weinies one day—seven and a half miles of them.

A revolt in Austria is near, and before long the German people will strip the Kaiser of his power, but will leave him whatever pleasure he gets out of sitting on a throne and calling himself Emperor. That's what Private Selim Shouska, Egyptian, says. For three hundred years Shouska's ancestors have seen into the future, and he is an astrologer of no mean ability. He claims to have foretold the election of Mayor Mitchell of New York before Mitchell entered politics, and named the month America would enter the war eight months before the declaration was made. He also predicts: That the war will end early next year, peace coming through the efforts of President Wilson and Pope Benedict; Germany will be compelled to surrender and all captured Russian, Belgian and French territories and pay immense indemnities. Shouska is learning to be a soldier here, and on account of his linguistic accomplishments expects to be valuable as an army interpreter.

FRUITS OF THIS WAR

The Des Moines Capital, in answer to the question of the unpatriotic ones as to "What we are going to get out of this war," also tells "What we are not going to get out of it," and among other things—

We are not going to let some men come into the United States without some kind of a bond, guaranteeing that they are not going to engage in burning property or in carrying on secret work on behalf of the country they came from.

The point is stressed that "we are going to love every foreigner who really becomes an American;" who, while losing nothing of love and affection for the homeland he has left, stands for real service and loyalty to the country of his adoption. And, best of all—

Out of this war we are going to get a new United States, are going to hate nobody, but we are going to be prepared to fight when ever necessary.

We are going to have the freest country in the world, but we are not going to allow any traitorous highbrows to set their own standards of freedom by which to convert freedom into treason.

There are a good many other things "we are going to get out of this war." When the soldier boys come home, we are going to have 2,000,000 of patriots who, having fought for the flag, will make good citizens and thorough patriots.

The people of the United States are going to get more out of this war than will be returned to any other country in the world.

And the greatest of these things will be "a new United States," in the strength of a greater nation—in the fuller light of that world-liberty for which we serve and sacrifice.

"The freest country in the world"—that fights to make other countries free; that goes into the battle, not for gain or glory, but for humanity's sake.

In that lies all the glory, which will be shared by all. And in that lies the meaning of the message of Colonel Robert H. Tyndall, to an Indiana regiment leaving to become a part of the United States fighting forces:

The young man who is fortunate enough to be of military age, and "fit" in mind and body should consider that to serve his country at this time is a great privilege, and should exercise his right by taking advantage of this opportunity.

And everywhere they are exercising that right—to fight the fight of freedom, if need be, "to the last man!"

BAKER'S FISHING HOLE NOW PROVING GROUND

Because Secretary of War Baker used to fish in a creek called Long Branch in Maryland, the new government proving ground is to be called Long Branch proving ground.

It is located at Gunpowder Neck which is not regarded as a suitable name. Aberdeen, the name of the nearest village, was rejected, Baker then recollected that as a boy he fished with a pin-hook in Long Branch in the immediate vicinity, "That's the name," Baker said.

SMITE BREWERIES AND KILL SEEDITION

William H. Anderson of New York, says the news and research department of the Methodist Episcopal church, Washington, D. C., commenting upon the now well understood fact that the breweries have been the nests of treason, cites the following overt facts:

For many years before his death Adolphus Busch spent much time in Germany, where he was intimate with the Kaiser and was reported to have given him $600,000 a year in the guise of "rentals" for hunting purposes. His wife is now in Germany and evinces great interest in the German cause.

When the German-American loyalists in New York tried to capture the New York Evening Mail, one of their meetings was held in the offices of Mr. Edward Burghardt, son-in-law of one Ebert, who owned the well named Hell Gate brewery.

After relations between Germany and America had reached the breaking point, hidden wireless telegraph stations still did Germany service in America. Still later, government officers seized a powerful wireless station on Fifth avenue at the home of Mrs. Huga Reisinger, daughter of Adolphus Busch.

In writing to Dr. Albert, successor to Dr. Dernberg, the notorious Sylvester Vierick mentioned a certain "Mrs. R." as the possible handler of funds intended for the support of Vierick's anti-American Fatherland, Curt Reisinger, grandson of Adolphus Busch, and son of Mrs. Reisinger, is now a director of Vierick's magazine. The identity of the "Mrs. R." who was to act as German agent is not hard to surmise.

On September 14 the editor of a brewery magazine was seized at San Antonio for obstructing the operation of the draft law.

When the federal agents on September 11 seized the Philadelphia Tageblatt, two of the men they wanted were Peter Schaefer and Paul Vogel, a brewery man.

On September 27 it developed that the "mystery woman" who had furnished large sums of money to finance the American embargo conference was Mrs. Carl Buhl of Chicago, the daughter of one brewer and the wife of another.—South Pasadena Courier.

BATTLEFIELD BLOSSOMS

Myriads of blood red poppies that have turned some sections of the battlefields of Northern France into fields of scarlet, as if the color of the blossoms themselves came from the blood of fallen heroes, anew calls attention to the strange relations that seem to exist between certain flowers and fields of sanguinary conflicts, a number of remarkable instances of which can be pointed out in history.

If you ever visit the great English racing center of Newmarket you will hear the story of "Bloody Flower of Newmarket," which is said to bloom nowhere else than in the old moat, which is now filled up. According to tradition, a very large number of human bodies are buried in this spot. These flowers bloom in June and July, and the dark, bloodlike hue of their blossoms is said to have suggested the name that has been given to them.

A similar instance is pointed out as having happened during the War of the Roses, when the monks of a certain monastery in Wiltshire buried after a battle a large number of Lancastrian and York dead in a huge common grave. The following year, according to the traditional story, the roses bushes planted on the grave bore red and white roses, flowers that were a blend of Lancaster and York.

Macaulay tells in a passage of striking eloquence how, after the battle of Landen in the Netherlands, in 1693, between the French army under the Marechal de Luxembourg and the English under King William III, where more than 20,000 men were left unburied on the field, the soil broke forth the following year into millions upon millions of scarlet poppies, covering the entire battlefield as if with a vast sheet of rich red.

One hundred and twenty years later the same kind of an occurrence was reported to have taken place in the same region, when in the summer of the year following the victory of Waterloo the entire battlefield was ablaze with scarlet poppies.

In the present war the same blooming of scarlet poppies everywhere on the battlefields of northern France some months after battle should, as one writer suggests, be made the subject of botanical research, for the phenomenon recalls the figurative prediction of the Hebrew prophet to the effect that the earth would "disclose her blood" when called upon to "cover her slain."

THE VENICE MELEE

The people of Venice are deserving of sympathy in the mess in which their city government finds itself. With two ex-officials facing the penitentiary for graft, two mayors resigning in one night, and hardly a beginning made yet in giving publicity to the actual conditions, the situation is certainly deplorable.

Months ago, when discussing the proposed bathing suit parade, the Outlook called attention to the certain lowering of all moral tone with disaster certain to follow in a community where the officials tolerated such shameless and vulgar "amusements." It may indeed "get the money," but this kind of money is better not gotten.

The saloon, cafe, dance hall, Coney Island style of developing a city does not appeal to us. More and more it will not appeal to thinking people. More and more will it lose its appeal to fathers, mothers, wives, husbands, whose dear ones are perverted, their health undermined while moral character goes down in ruins under the constant familiarity with the evils nursed and nourished in a wide open town.

Chief Reynolds may not get the backing he ought to have in his efforts to enforce the laws. He has a large number of constituents who want to put the skids under him—and they may succeed, for the people favoring clean things are notoriously slow in ardently supporting men who endeavor to enforce the laws. But it is to be hoped that good citizens and those who love young people will earnestly encourage and support him in enforcing the statutes and the ordinances in Venice.

If the district attorney succeeds in sending a few prominent citizens to the pen for their just deserts it may clear up the atmosphere and create a more wholesome environment in the future.—Venice News.

DON'T SIT ON FENCE WHILE THE HOUSE IS BURNING

(By George Ade)

A house was burning. All of the neighbors, except one, were trying to save the building. He sat on the fence. Some one suggested that he should help. "They don't need me," he replied. "The others are so blamed energetic and efficient that probably the fire will be put out without me turning a hand."

A ship was sinking. The captain ordered all hands to the pumps. "Keep the pumps going and I will land you safely," that was the captain's assurance.

All of the sailors, except one, sprang to the pumps. This one sat on a coil of rope and smoked his pipe. "Do you want to drown?" asked a shipmate. "I won't drown," was the cool reply. "Not while you boys are doing my share of the work. I know you've got to keep the pumps going whether I help or not."

Once a great republic, in real need of the loyal assistance of every citizen, called for subscriptions to a bond issue of enormous dimensions. One kind of man said, "I don't believe I'll subscribe. The country is full of fellows that are all keyed up and patriotic, and when it comes to a showdown they'll make a few sacrifices and take care of my part of the subscription, rather than see the enterprise flatten out and fail."

Don't perch on the fence when your neighbor's house is burning.

Don't sit on a coil of rope when the ship is sinking.

EVERYTHING NEATLY DIS-PATCHED

Over the garden fence the conversation had suddenly turned acrimonious.

"An' if yere boy 'Erbert ties any more cans to our pore dog's tail," was Mrs. Maggin's stern ultimatum, "he'll hear about it, that's all. Oh, an' per'aps you've done wiv that saucepan wot you borrowed last Monday."

"'Erbert," asked Mrs. Grabb, shrilly, "wot 'ave you bin doin' to Mrs. Maggin's dog?"

"Nothin', ma!" replied the small boy, unblushingly.

"There!" said his mother, triumphantly.

"An' you returned her saucepan yesterday, didn't you, dearie?"

"Sent it back by her dog!" said 'Erbert, calmly.

WHEN AIRMEN FLY HIGH

Aviators have a cold time of it when they mount high into the air. On the hottest day in summer a flying man may be in the arctic regions in ten minutes by mounting to a height of 10,000 feet, just as the climber may pass through all the zones of climate by climbing Kilimanjaro, that giant peak which rises above the snow line from the equator. He commences with the tropical jungle and ends amid eternal snow. The temperature is invariably low at 10,000 feet and over, whether at the tropics or the poles, and it is quite likely to be lowest at the equator. In fact, there is little variation of temperature in these upper reaches of the atmosphere. It is much the same in summer as winter, except for the difference which a high wind makes. Even in the depth of a hot summer the airman will encounter 40 degrees of frost at 10,000 feet, and at twice that altitude 100 degrees of frost—the temperature of the south pole is usual enough.

TOO MUCH ARGUMENT

On the Western plains the sheepman goes out with several thousand head and one human companion. The natural result is that the pair, forced on one another when they least want it, form the habit of hating each other. An ex-sheepman while in a narrative mood one evening was telling a party of friends of a fellow he once rode with.

"Not a word had passed between us for more than a week, and that night when we rolled up in our blankets he suddenly asked: 'Hear that cow beller?'"

"'Sounds to me like a bull,' I replied."

"'No answer, but the following morning I noticed him packing up."

"'Going to leave?' I questioned."

"'Yes,' he replied."

"'What for?'"

"'Too much argument.'"

Fire fighters know something of the value of fighting fire with fire. When a mountain side becomes a raging furnace the fighters set out "back fires" and prevent the spread of destruction by laying waste a path around the seat of trouble. That is just what the United States is preparing to do with the central powers. The fire of war is to be put out for all time so that there shall be no repetition of its horrors.

Mr. and Mrs. Jess E. Horne, formerly of 810 West Third street, returned on Sunday from a short trip to Taft, Cal., and left again in their machine for Whittier on Tuesday, where they expect to spend the remainder of the week.

Mr. E. L. Schuyler, of 1430 Ivy street, has recently returned from his six weeks' trip in the East, where he visited, among other places, at Evansville, Ind. Mr. Schuyler brought his father, Dr. Schuyler, out with him to make his home here.

On Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock the Parent-Teacher Association of the Cerritos avenue school will hold a meeting at the school. Recreation will be the subject of the afternoon. As Mrs. Ella Richardson is chairman, a good program and an interesting afternoon is assured.

Mrs. F. E. Alexander, of the Glengary Studio, has been visiting her daughter, Mrs. Franklin Flick, of Covina, since Sunday. Mrs. Flick has just returned to her home from a hospital in Pomona, where she underwent a very serious operation. She is improving very nicely.

At the meeting of the Brotherhood class of the Christian church last night the men placed themselves on record as favoring the strict enforcement of all the anti-liquor ordinances of our clean little city, and especially those prohibiting the serving of liquors in any building within the limits of the city.

Mrs. Ed Burlingham, who has been living at the Flower apartments, 1206 1/2 Broadway, since her husband left with the California engineers for Long Island, has left for Tacoma, Wash. Mrs. Burlingham's sister, Mrs. St. Louis, has very recently died, leaving a family of boys. Mrs. Burlingham will for the present take care of the children.

Mrs. H. W. Yarick, of 1447 West Third street, returned on Saturday from a visit of four weeks at Pacific Grove, where she was called by the serious illness of her mother, Mrs. M. E. Heffer, who had suffered a stroke of paralysis. Mrs. Yarick brought her mother back with her to spend the winter.

Mrs. C. O. Pulliam, 126 South Central, will entertain on Wednesday afternoon, October 31, at 2 o'clock, for the benefit of the boys of Company 9, Coast Artillery, at Dead Man's Island. Five hundred will be played and a charge of 25 cents made. The public is urged to attend. You are welcome, whether or not you play cards.

Whenever anything is well done you will find the school children on the job. They started out yesterday to get signatures for the food pledge, and, safe to say, they will get them. Sign the food pledge so that the food administration may know definitely that Glendale is doing her bit along this line.—Miss Eulalia Richardson, Secretary Glendale Food Pledge Drive.

Miss Ethelyn Andrews, of 216 Orange street, entertained at luncheon at her home on Saturday. Mrs. T. B. Gates of Huntington Park, Miss Mamie Garrow of Long Beach, and the Misses Violet and Alma Muriel Turner of Glendale were the guests. The floral decorations, as well as the delicious fried chicken, were tributes from the big Andrews ranch near Huntington Park. Mrs. Gates and Miss Garrow remained as week end guests with Miss Andrews.

Among the many motor parties attending the picnic at Dead Man's Island on Sunday was that of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen C. Packer, who took guests and were accompanied by several other machines from Glendale, Mr. and Mrs. A. S. Chase, Mr. and Mrs. E. K. Barnes of Casa Verdugo and Mrs. and Miss McCoy, all driving down with guests as well as the families in each instance. Mr. and Mrs. McKee, of Brand boulevard, were also present with a large party, as were Mr. and Mrs. Logan of Tropico, and Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Heald, of 912 Lomita avenue.

This week the New Thought Bible class will meet with Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Woolsey, 1424 Milford, at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Emma Morrison of Santa Monica, who is the sister-in-law of Mrs. Edgar Leavitt, of 512 Orange street, has come out to Glendale to spend the winter, and is rooming with Miss Purrington, at Broadway and Orange street.

BOND ELECTION

Quite a live interest is being taken in the fire bond election today. Glendale city is poorly protected from ravages of fire, and is therefore in need of force pump engines on motor cars. The water supply is right, but the pressure is what is lacking. If you have not voted, do so before the polls close, which is 7 o'clock.

HIS WIFE DECIDES

The lawyer stopped at the small downtown fruit store to give an order for the oranges upon which he fed at humid noon, says the New York Sun. "I've moved to the Blank building," he told the proprietor. "Got settled yesterday."

"What floor?" asked the fruit merchant.

"The fifth," said the lawyer.

"Rooms 516 to 522."

"Better use 518 for yourself," said the fruit man. "It's cooler in summer and brighter in winter."

So! Perhaps Mr. Oppenheim was not far off in his game of the thoroughness of spy systems. But the lawyer asked rather baldly: "How do you know that?"

"I shined shoes in the Blank building for six years," said the trader in oranges. "My best years."

"Meaning of course," said the lawyer, "that you were young."

"Meaning that I made more money with less work," said the fruit dealer.

"Thirty or forty dollars a week. No rent, no expense except a few pennies for blacking. Blacking doesn't spoil and fruit does. Now everything is expensive. I pay rent for this little store and rent for my house in Brooklyn; rent for the place where we keep our motor truck in Manhattan and rent for the garage near the house where I keep the little car I take the family out in on Sundays. My partner wanted to make the fruit business a corporation, to be stylish, so we pay a stock tax to the state and a corporation tax to the government, whether we make money or not. And there are two automobile license taxes, and over home I have a water tax and a dog tax. My life insurance costs me over $100 a year.

The lawyer nodded sympathetically, but did not denounce the multiplicity of taxes. His own income was fattened by the complexity of revenue producing methods.

"It would be simpler," he suggested, "to have continued shining shoes."

"I got married," said the fruit merchant, as if that were a complete answer.

"In a democracy," said the lawyer, not comprehending, "man has the happiness, no matter what his means of honest income may be, of being equal to other men. For instance, there's Angelo, the bootblack at the corner. He's happy and glad to have a prosperous stand."

"Angelo isn't married," said the fruit man.

"What has that to do with it?" asked the lawyer.

"Everything," said the fruit man.

"In America every man has the same right as another, which is to try to make himself the equal of the other men that he is supposed to make himself the equal of. That is why I must take risks and pay a lot of expenses and not go back to shining shoes."

"And who decides," asked the lawyer, "what manner of man a man shall make himself equal to?"

"His wife decides," was the answer. "He must be equal to the husbands of the women she knows."

Upon this the lawyer went away, knowing that there was no evidence in rebuttal. On arriving at his new office he found, indeed, that Room 518 faced the south.

INDIANS ONLY PURE AMERICANS

Strictly speaking, all citizens of America save the Indians are "foreigners," but Americanism in its higher aspects is a state of mind and conscience. In this sense every believer in and upholder of democratic ideals, no matter where he was born or where he lives, is a true American. No traitor, though his family has lived in America for 300 years, is an American in spirit. The foreign born American patriot or the upholder of democracy in a foreign land puts him to shame.

NEW THOUGHT

During the month of November the morning service at the New Thought Center will be discontinued. This does not apply to the Sunday school. The evening service will continue in charge of Dr. Pfeiffer, who plans to make this service purely devotional and inspirational, while the Wednesday evening class will be given over to the discussion of those principles that underlie liberal thought. In that way one will supplement the other.

The Sunday morning service, with the theme "Abundance," was in the charge of Mrs. Ida Stetson of Los Angeles. "Get the thought of abundance, of opulence, into your consciousness. There is no lack in God's kingdom. You can demonstrate prosperity and manifest supply if you hold this thought of abundance. Know in whom you trust and know that your affairs are in divine order. Say to yourself, I am a magnet and I attract all good. This day I have within me all I need. By constantly holding this thought of abundance we bring to ourselves love, truth, prosperity, health and joy. Let us get close to God and we will be abundantly supplied."

Mrs. U. F. Newlin sang "O Rest in the Lord," accompanied by Mrs. L. L. Elliott. The evening service was led by Dr. Pfeiffer. "As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he. Whatsoever things are true, honest, just, pure, lovely and of good report, if there be any virtue and any praise, think on these things. The practicality of the Christian appeal is that which makes it worth while. We should not go about with our heads in the clouds and lose interest in the workaday life. This message is for our use as we go about and mingle with people daily. This world is as good as it is because of the men and women who have had ideals and lived up to them; in other words, because of men who thought of things good, lovely and just. When there has not been thinking on these things the opposite is true.

"All educators recognize the wonderful opportunity children present. The growing, unfolding child is wonderfully receptive to good. Principles drilled into a mind early enough and forcefully enough have an everlasting effect upon character.

"We who are in the liberal thought are proud to think that we believe in dwelling on thoughts of this nature.

"The idealism of the Puritans of New England was what sustained them. It is true it was tinged with fanaticism, and the pendulum swung to that extreme, but it is not true that the pendulum swings to the other extreme of indifference now? Happily, there is a middle course. A nation and an individual can not rise higher than its thoughts. Sterling character is the only thing fundamentally worth while. Many ask, What book shall I study, what line shall I follow? Give your life over to living out the truths taught in the idealism of the Christ life. Never get beyond His dynamic, contagious influence. In this process of spiritual development the highest thought must reign supreme."

Mrs. J. J. Freeman sang "The Plains of Peace," accompanied by Miss Helene Morgan, who also played a piano number of unusual merit.

STUDY WAR PROBLEMS

In dimly lighted laboratories and under the study lamps, California's scientists are quietly working out intricate problems to help Uncle Sam win the war.

University of California scientists are making important strides in war problems. John C. Merriam, chairman of the scientific committee of the State Council of Defense, declared today. Not all that is being done could be revealed, he declared. "Between 20 and 30 men are engaged at the University of California in chemical experimentation," he declared. "If the war is continued two years their results will be among the most important factors for victory. But the economic problems are those we are best able to announce because of the necessary censorship over work on such problems as submarines and explosives."

"There has been an investigation of potash from mother liquor obtained in the manufacture of salt; a study of derivatives of petroleum; a plan for new processes for the manufacture of cyanide at reduced cost, and a survey of the chemical industries of the state. The geological committee is now engaged in a study of the state's important manganese resources, so necessary in certain alloys used in steel production. They are working on metallurgical processes which will make more valuable the manganese ores."

"A committee on botanical problems has almost completed a study of wild plants for their use as food, drugs and fiber sources. Dr. H. M. Hall and Dr. T. H. Goodspeed have practically completed experiments on the desert rabbit bush which will result in the obtaining of rubber from these plants."

"The utilization of fish and molluscs as a solution to the food problem is another important work under way."

"There is now under way a survey of the possible sea food forms unused and practically unknown to most persons. This work is being centered at La Jolla, San Diego county. The use of fish for fertilizer, hog feed and chicken feed is also being investigated."

"Up to this time we have never known the true nature of the tuna supply. Another problem covers the investigation of certain sea foods, heretofore poisonous to man, but which can be used freely under proper circumstances if present experiments are successful."

"I can say this much regarding the submarine problem: Expert engineers and chemists are going deeply into the diver question. They are investigating every idea reported and are working on plans which may prove of a revolutionary nature in eliminating the submarine menace."

"In addition, there are professors preparing new military topographies, professors training young men for the U. S. merchant marine, professors teaching aeronautics and professors working out medical methods."

TO BUY PAPER PULP PLANTS

Communications have been received by Uncle Sam's forest products laboratory from the Technological museum of New South Wales, at Sydney, Australia, and from the forest research institute of India, asking for plans and specifications and estimates of cost of experimental paper pulp plants.

Richard T. Baker, curator of the museum at Sydney, states that an investigation of the pulping qualities of Australian hardwoods has been undertaken, and he desires to communicate with manufacturers of needed machinery.

William Raitt of the forest research institute and college of India, states that the branch of the service that he represents is contemplating a large extension of its practical work and that the installing of a plant for the production of paper pulp is among the projects undertaken. He desires illustrations and descriptive matter on the subject and invites estimates from manufacturers. The raw material to be used comprises bamboo and Savannah grasses digested by the soda method. The institute also intends to fit up small plants for the treatment of resins, gums, etc., cracking of oils, tanning extraction and timber creosoting.

POPULATION OF CANAL ZONE

A census of the canal zone taken by the police and fire division as of June 30, 1917, shows a total civilian population of 23,295, a gain of 495 as compared with a year ago, according to Uncle Sam's consul at Colon. Of the total population 7447 are Americans, of whom 3494 are men, 1890 women and 2063 children. Of the population of all other nationalities (15,848), there are 9310 men, 3005 women and 3533 children.

WAR STORY

The geography lesson was about to begin, and the subject of it was France. Accordingly, the teacher started off with the question:

"Now, in this present terrible war, who is our principal ally?"

"France," came the answer. "Now can you give me the name of a town in France?"

A small boy at the back of the class almost fell over in his eagerness to tell: "Somewhere," he said, breathlessly.

Who keeps one end in view makes all things sure.—Browning.

CULL WALNUT PROFIT TO GROWER

In the lexicon of the California English walnut industry there is no such word as "cull." There was a time when the sale of $5,000,000 worth of high grade walnuts was jeopardized by cull nuts, but that day has passed into history. Today the cull walnut yields a by-product, and the demand for it is greater than the supply.

During the last two years the cull walnuts handled by the California Walnut Growers' Association, which markets 75 per cent of the crop grown in the state, have been cracked and sold as halves and pieces. They now bring more money than they were worth when sold as culls, and their popularity is doing much to increase the demand for unshelled walnuts from California groves.

The California Walnut Growers' Association is entitled to credit for lifting the cull nut out of the dump into the high grade grocery. Until 1915 the culls were sold in the groves, usually at about 3 cents a pound. The hucksters who bought them mixed them with a few nuts of better quality and topped them with some selects, then sold them to the retail grocers.

At that time 10 cents a pound was the prevailing price for English walnuts here. People didn't think they were worth more than that, and select walnuts met with discouragement when offered at more than 10 cents a pound.

The association decided that it could only establish a market for high grade walnuts by withdrawing the culls from retail markets. The first thing it did was to make its contract read that the growers were to deliver every pound of their culls to the association.

It then began cracking the nuts, separating the halves, packing them attractively and offering them to the grocers and bakers all over the country. During the first year they found that the imported halves were sharp competitors, but by careful grading the Californians finally won the confidence of the trade and last year they were able to sell all the halves and pieces they could deliver. At the opening of this season the market was bare. It is now ready to buy them in large quantities.

On the second floor of the association's new headquarters at 1326 East Seventh street, Los Angeles, the largest and best equipped walnut shelling and packing plant in the world has been installed. This plant is equipped with a battery of four cracking machines, each of which is capable of handling five tons a day. Two hundred young women, dressed in snow white uniforms, spend five months of the year at the long, white tables, picking out the pieces and packing the finished products.

The walnut cracking machines are mechanical marvels. They were invented by walnut growers who rose to the emergency when the association announced that it needed a machine to do the work that had formerly been done by hand. These machines have devices which drop the walnuts down into channels in such a way that the pressure can be applied by wedge shaped squeezers with such ease that 80 per cent of the nut halves can be taken out of the shells whole. The success of these machines has been phenomenal.

Another machine which developed from sheer necessity is the vacuum separator—a device which, by suction, picks up and carries off through a chute all of the nuts passing beneath it which are so light that their weight marks them as containing shriveled meats or being otherwise unfit for No. 1 or No. 2 grade.

This is the machine which separates the sheep from the goats. It takes out the culls automatically and heaps them in the big basement bins, ready for cracking by machinery. During the 1915 season the association marketed 434,526 pounds of cracked nut meats. In 1916 it sold all the halves and pieces it could pack, the prices being from 25 to 45 cents a pound, depending upon the quality and color of the meats. This year it expects to sell 1,500,000 pounds at prices from 35 to 50 cents a pound.

The grower used to receive 3 cents a pound for culls, and by selling them as culls he killed his market for good walnuts. Today he gets better than 5 cents a pound for culls, receives more for his high grade nuts by keeping the poor ones out of the market, and relieves the public of the discomfort of buying nuts which may be 60 per cent shriveled or wormy when cracked. The element of chance in buying walnuts has been largely eliminated by this new and scientific method of handling and marketing one of California's most substantial crops.

SLEDDING IN MICHIGAN

Getting their sleds out in Upper Michigan, they say. Sounds like a long winter back in that country.

DECORATING THE KITCHEN

The new cook's had the kitchen done With blue its motive note. Because it matches up you see Patrolman Casey's coat.

NEW YORK, Oct. 30.—When the busy little 1917 decorator got through with the library by hanging it in cloth of gold and carelessly tossing a black velvet cushion with gold tassels on the black and white marble floor, and defying anybody to find a book in the place, he called it a day and felt he had beautifully acquitted himself of a perfect home.

He had overlooked, however, the most vital spot of all in these days of the servant famine. A spot where the lady of the manor must needs spend most of her hours of erstwhile ease—the kitchen.

A kitchen specialist was at once called in, and when he had finished with the spot one simply had to plead with the lady of the manor to come out of the kitchen before she would tear herself away from the fascinating place.

It's time the kitchen was taken in a decorative hand. Even if you are fortunate enough to have a little servant in your home, it makes the odds better for your keeping her if you have a color scheme that matches her aura or a conventional pattern linoleum that appeals to her conventional mood.

If you have your own house then your super kitchen has tiled walls, of course, and a red tile floor, but even if you must struggle along in an apartment with plaster walls and floors of wood, do not despair. Take your courage and a paint brush well in hand, and when your walls have been done a cerulean hue and the woodwork white enamel, then put blue and white linoleum on the floor and proceed to make sash curtains for the windows of bright blue and white check gingham with the checks of half-inch dimensions. A pink geranium in a blue and white flower pot on the window ledge, a collection of white mixing bowls with bright blue bank, pots, pans and sauce pans of bright blue enamel, blue and white scalloped oil cloth on the shelves the same pattern as the linoleum, an oval braided blue and white rag rug on the floor and a Windsor chair, white enameled, and you have a blue and white kitchen de lux that would break your blue and white crockery. Even a blue Monday would fade to insignificance in such fascinatingly blue and white confines.

On the other hand a yellow and white kitchen will bring the sunshine into the darkest Harlem flat. Paint the walls in sunshine yellow with the woodwork white, but then go a bit further with your other tints and paint the stepladder chair, the table, the kitchen cabinet, all in a golden glow, stopping short only of the stove and sink.

Yellow and white Japanese toweling makes quaint and appropriate sash curtains for the windows of the yellow kitchen, and as a final finishing touch either a canary in a willow cage may swing in the window or a tortoise shell cat bask in the sunny glow of the table and chairs. Don't, however, feel you must go the limit and have both, as there would undoubtedly be a clash and a jarring note. Ultimately, however, there is no doubt but that both cat and bird would blend beautifully together.

For the floor of the yellow kitchen linoleum to simulate a hardwood parquet floor is best, although yellow and white patterned linoleum is also good. Don't throw out your perfectly good aluminum or enamel kitchen utensils because they clash with your sunshine color scheme, but if you do have to buy new ones anyway, either copper or brass pots and sauce pans like they use "over there" will fit in shiniest.

Either the blue and white, the yellow and white or the all white kitchen is a winning trio to choose from. Of course, there may be a few aesthetic souls who are forced to wrestle with the pots and pans in these present days of stress who would prefer to do so in an atmosphere of mauve or reseda. Let them go as far and as mauve as they like. If it helps them to scour out pots in a purple sink or fry flapjacks on a Nile green stove, who is there to draw the color line? Unless, of course, they should be able to snare a husky Bridget after they got it all mauved up. She'd probably proceed to paint it red for them, or at least quit the job and then paint the place black to all other applicants.

WILLIE'S PROTEST

Little Willie had worn pajamas for two years. But while visiting an aunt he discovered that his night clothes had been forgotten. When Willie saw the nightie donated by a girl cousin he protested vigorously, winding up with:

"An' I won't wear no nightgown ever, ever. Not even if I have to go to bed raw."

RENTAL ATTRACTIONS

The man who was seeking a home said to the agent: "What I want is a place with a fine view." The agent, who was rich in places of all sorts, immediately exclaimed: "Here, I've got just what you are looking for. But it will cost you a little more than the one I've just shown you." "Are you sure the view is all right?" continued the homeseeker. "Why, man, it couldn't be better! By simply going on your roof you can see a big league baseball game."

PLEA FOR RELIEF OF OIL SITUATION

A strong plea for the relief of the petroleum situation in California, with particular reference to conditions which exist on Naval Reserve No. 2 in Midway field, Kern county, was made by State Mineralogist Fletcher Hamilton in his speech delivered recently before the joint convention of the American Association of State Geologists and American Institute of Mining Engineers, which was in session at St. Louis October 8 to 15.

This meeting was held for the express purpose of formulating plans which will lead to the increased production of war minerals in the United States, the chief of which is petroleum. Facts relative to the shortage of this product and the alarming decrease of stocks in storage have been given wide publicity during the last few months, but as yet the federal government has not seen fit to take any definite steps to make available the untold millions of barrels which exist in the district mentioned.

Mr. Hamilton presented an unbiased statement of the facts in this case to the assembled state officials and mining engineers, and urged the importance of creating an intelligent public opinion in this regard, which would result in forcing Congress to take some action at the earliest possible time. The withdrawal order, which was designated as a temporary one, has been in effect eight years last September, and the problem seems to be as far from solution as ever.

A speedy and adequate increase of production in California can only be obtained from the lands involved in withdrawal or litigation, and, as Mr. Hamilton forcibly indicated, it is more to the point to let future wars take care of themselves than to lose the present one through dreams of future conservation and technical disputes as to methods and bickerings as to the "rights" of various branches of the government.

If the present consumption of petroleum and its products is reduced it will cripple many industries which are vital to the nation's welfare. The oil operators of the state are doing their share to prevent this condition from developing, and the state mining bureau, in sharing this responsibility, is assisting in every possible way, particularly by the introducing and enforcing of regulations guaranteeing the utmost efficiency in the operations leading up to production.

Problems having to do with supplying labor and material in the oil fields are already being investigated by certain government departments, but as long as rich oil lands are allowed to remain unavailable Mr. Hamilton takes the stand that the federal government is not only doing many citizens of California an injustice, but is seriously injuring his own prospects.

In addition to the questions relative to the petroleum situation, the state mineralogist explained to the engineers present the activities of his bureau as regards investigations of various problems having to do with war minerals and mining in general, and offered the hearty co-operation of the entire state of California in the work of providing supplies of raw materials, many of which will be required in an ever increasing amount as the war period extends. This state is fortunate in possessing deposits of many, if not all, of these substances, lack of development to date merely being due to economic conditions and the geographical situation of the Pacific coast with reference to the industrial centers and principal markets in the East.

SHORTEST PRISON SENTENCE

The shortest recorded sentence is that to which a woman was sentenced at the Cookstown (Ulster) sessions. The woman pleaded guilty to stealing a quantity of horse hair from her employer, who said she was a good worker, but addicted to the drinking of ether, which was the cause of her lapse. He did not wish her to be prosecuted. A previous record of six weeks' imprisonment for false pretenses in 1913 barred her from being dealt with as a first offender. She was ordered imprisoned until the rising of the court, and as hers was the last case on the list, the length of her sentence was exactly two minutes and a half.—London Mail.

HOME-MADE VINEGAR

Vinegar can easily be made at home from grapes, apples, oranges and other sweet fruit, and from the culls, windfalls, cores and parings, and good food thus be spared from going to waste. Such is the thrift suggestion by the committee on resources and food supply of the California State Council of Defense.

How to prepare home-made vinegar is told in a paper by Prof. F. T. Bioletti and W. V. Cruess of the University of California, just issued and obtainable free by writing to the College of Agriculture at Berkeley.

The making of vinegar at home begins by preparing a sweet liquid by crushing sweet fruit or dried fruit, raisins and honey may be used. This liquid should contain from 10 to 20 per cent of sugar, and if the juice is not sweet enough one-fourth to one-half pound of sugar could be added to each gallon. The juice of very ripe fruit should be diluted with one or two pints of water to the gallon. Honey should be diluted with an equal volume of fruit juice and about five times its volume of water. Dried fruit should be soaked in water—one gallon to two and a half to three pounds—for 24 hours, and then heated and pressed, and a pound of sugar added to each gallon of juice. The liquid thus prepared is then fermented by adding a cake of well broken up compressed yeast to about each five gallons of the liquid. Or, better, a pure yeast culture can be obtained by writing to the division of viticulture of the College of Agriculture at Berkeley.
